The History of Bluestocking

~Our link between the Past and Present~

Ever wondered why our yearbook is called the BLUESTOCKING? "In the late eighteenth century it was the fashion to hold soirees at which women were permitted to participate in conversation with literary and ingenious men. These societies came to be known as Blue Stocking Clubs because one of the most prominent members of these clubs, Mr. Benjamin Stillingfleet, wore blue worsted stockings rather than the more common black silk stockings of the day. Such was the excellence of his conversation and so great a loss was his absence felt to be that it became the fashion to say when he was not present. "We can do nothing without the bluestockings." The term has come to denote women who show a taste for learning and an inclination toward intellectual pastimes." *

Orientation 2006

MBC Welcomes Perfect 10

Stack 'Em Up

Every year students have to go to the bookstore to purchase their books.

Mail Time

On the first week school, Freshman have to start to get used to the hard-to-open mail boxes.

Apple Day

Limericks by Marie Mainard O'Connell

PEG

There were many young ladies of PEG
Who together, could quite shake a leg.
They did so much Apple day,
To put hunger at bay,
That for more service they really did beg.

There was a young miss of PEG,
Too young to sip from the keg;
But come Apple Day
Put the cider away
Like she had a whole hollow leg!

There was a young maid of PEG
Too smart to be willing to beg;
We should really ALL go
To the Orchard you know,
That clever young maid of PEG.

McClung

There once was a woman of McClung
Who stayed abed when her bell had rung,
She missed the bus
To the Orchard, the cuss,
That lazy little girl from McClung.

But of that young girl from McClung,
She cried at the top of her lungs:
Ill amend my ways,
I support Apple Day!
And helped decorations get hung.

Faculty, Staff

There once was a college for women
That took the day off and then,
Helped the hungry, had brunch,
Held a carnival with punch,
And called it our finest tradition!

King and Memorial

There was a young woman from King
And on Apple Day started to sing:
Oh Apple Day, my Apple Day,
You are a thing of beauty!
That pleasant young woman from King.

There were many young maids of Memorial,
Who were always quite civil and cordial.
But upon Apple Day
Did all heck give way
Those adventurous young maids of Memorial.

Spencer and Woodson

There once was a lady of Spencer
Who was an adroit sword fencer
She came Apple Day
To the carnival to play
That capricious young lady of Spencer.

There once was a lass from Woodson
Who loved a good day in the sun,
She took apples from trees
And said If you please,
Ill be at the fair for some fun.

Tullidge and Kable

There once was a girl from Tullidge
Who hated to work at a drudge.
But for apples she cared
And gleaned more than she dared
That industrious lady from Tullidge.

There once was a cadet from Kable
Who served when er she was able;
Have hotdogs, get pied,
Force PT she cried,
That Carnival caller from Kable

Hilltop and Woodrow

There was a young lady of Hill Top,
Who all thought to be quite a beer-sop,
But come Apple Day,
She was up right away,
To glean apples and be a right good-sop.

There was a young lass of Woodrow
Who to all Apple Day did go:
The gleaming, the brunch n' the Carnival
She was quite proud that she did them all,
That involved young lass of Woodrow.

For My Peeps in the Houses

There were many young maids o the Houses
That we swear are as quiet as mouses,
An Apple Eve-fest?
Why, surely you jest!
Those tempestuous young maids o the Houses.

These intense young maids o the Houses
That may have a few nightly carouses,
Until Apple Day
When they throw that away
To be community servants not louses.

They are proud women o the Houses,
Who serve others-work hard-then carouses,
Sure they may have fun
Play when hard work is done
Those reliable maids o the Houses!

Is this costume part of her future?

Senior Megan Jones shows off her costume -- a wino -- to her fellow STARS members. STARS always throws a Halloween party and trick or treating for the area children.

Do you think she's really clean?

Senior Gabby Bergeret wears the most imaginative costume to date -- a loofah.

And only Gabby could make a mundane loofah look absolutely gorgeous.

Happy Halloween!

Fom VWIL Halloween PT, the PEG Halloween brunch, costumes in Senate, and staff all dressed up, Halloween at MBC is fun!

And the Grinch, with his Grinch-feet ice cold in the snow, stood puzzling and puzzling, how could it be so? It came without ribbons. It came without tags. It came without packages, boxes or bags. And he puzzled and puzzled 'till his puzzler was sore. Then the Grinch thought of something he hadn't before. What if Christmas, he thought, doesn't come from a store. What if Christmas, perhaps, means a little bit more.

~Dr. Seuss

Signature Ball

Tropical Nights

Below, Laura Bouchard shows us what dancing is really like!

Also, these ladies not only had a great time at the ball, but they looked fabulous while doing it!

Right I.C. members, Alison Kaufmann, Patty Grace and Dea Turner, show us that being a student leader also allows time to let loose and have fun.

Above, the saying "Every woman loves a man in uniform" is proven true! Left top corner, these ladies seem to be having a great night! Far left corner, this couple is having a blast, and close left corner, Megan Tucker and her date color coordinate beautifully for the dance!

What do you think of when you think of dinner at Mary Baldwin? More than likely the answer to this question involves a sandwich, salad, or other food item grabbed from one of the three food venues on campus, sometime between class, sports, and all those meetings one must attend. Well, before life got so hectic here on the hill, dinners were actually more like social situations involving all the students on campus (not voices coming out of cell phones). There was no waiting in line for an hour for stir fry or eating a waffle in two minutes flat. Students were seated and served their dinner, family-style, from a member of a group of students called the Eta Betas. In honor of this cherished tradition, the STARS (STudent Alumnae/i Relations Society) themselves become Eta Betas one night each year to serve the sophomore class their dinner.

Spring Fling

MBC's Class of 2007 lets loose.

On a chilly day in April, the Mary Baldwin Class of 2007 gathered together for their much anticipated Spring Fling. Although it was unusually cold for a spring day, the seniors still took the time to reminisce about their years at MBC, enjoy some Seussian food and drink, and sing along to some live music. With the theme being Oh, the places you'll go! based on the Dr. Seuss book of the same name, it was almost impossible not to have a good time while surrounded by the Cat in the Hat and his characters, green eggs oozing from the Alumnae/I house, and green ham biscuits to munch on.

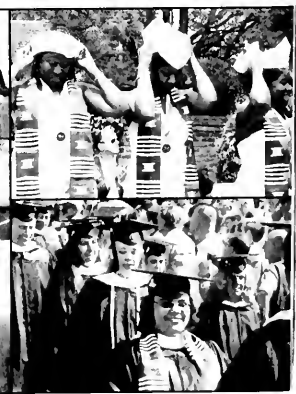

Spring Fling

Graduation is only a concept. In real life every day you graduate. Graduation is a process that goes on until the last day of your life. If you can grasp that, you'll make a difference. ~Arie Pencovici

David Gray, the artist, and Peter Burt, the poet, have been friends for over 30 years. They are both artists, and both have been married, but also the mother of a child. They have both been committed to making art. Peter has been the beloved. They meet, in part, as an artist to whom the artist is invited. They have each found their respective arts in each other's work. David, the poet, has been the beloved. They meet, in part, as an artist to whom the artist is invited. They have each found their respective arts in each other's work. David, the poet, has been the beloved. They meet, in part, as an artist to whom the artist is invited. They have each found their respective arts in each other's work.

The public is invited to attend this wonderful collaborative presentation of art and the dialogue between poetry and painting.

I believe I can soar, Umoja
I believe I can soar because we are and I am complete, Umoja
We embrace our shared experiences and our differences, Ujima.

In words, dance, chorus, and song
In living, learning, leading, achieving,
I believe in A Great Cloud of Witnesses
Celebrating inclusive creativity, Kuumba.

An office, a locus, a focus
Of sisterhood, cultural celebrations, and clubs
I believe in self-determination, Kujichagulia.

A wall of honor
A legacy of commitment
I believe in the Mary Baldwin women of color
We have faith in you, Imani.

I believe I can soar, Umoja.
I believe I can soar because we are and I am complete, Umoja.
We embrace our legacy and future, Sankofa.

-- Dr. Pamela Fox

From Mary Baldwin to the Ladies on the Wall...

I was bewildered
Those first days my gaze
Rested upon your striking face
I was uneasy and terrified unaware of your authority
Naive on the subject of your design
I nervously awaited the day you would defiantly declare
THIS is all mine!

As you pushed through climbed over stepped around occasionally fell down
I was pleased.
You collected yourself
With such poise and ease
Even your mistakes were refined
And I could see very soon
You were preparing to sing
THIS is all mine!

Your tears tugged at the Corners of my heart
You werent meant to blend
You were created to stand apart
You were dressed in color
A delightful creation danced all across my surface with your precise purpose
And all I could think was,
Its about time!
I became proud
As with attitude you announced,
THIS is all mine!

I love the portion of my song
To these hills where Beauty dwells
Yet what you have added caused my splendor to swell
As you flexed
I flexed
As you increased

I increased
And when you became Black Woman
With your texture and your story
You were heavy
My soil expanded and deepened beneath you
You demanded
I must be enough to keep you standing.
I must be enough to keep you
I must be enough
And when we were weary together those times
All I could hear was
Your persistence,
THIS is all mine!

You are the spiritual
That delivered me to transformation
You are dream
You are solution
You are masterpiece
You are revolution

A lyric which fused my past with legacy imprinted across my breasts
Your poems
Your songs
Your names
Your memory
Your protests
Because of you
I am louder
Rhythmic, vibrant
Blessed.
Because of you
I am now
And tomorrow
And I am more
But best of all
I am always
And thankfully YOURS

"The 2006 soccer season consisted of many ups and downs as many athletic seasons do. I was proud to be a part of such a positive group of young women. A few highlights for the season include beating Wilson College with less than a minute on the clock, scoring the only regular season goal against the undefeated College of Notre Dame (Md.), and playing Emory University which is one of the top Division III teams in the nation. In addition, several athletes received individual honors at the end of the season including Toni Ruocco earning 1st Team All-Conference honors, and Max Wood, Cami Roa, Amanda Harmon, Amanda Silvers, Lizzy Coltrane, and Bri Aviles receiving honorable mention honors. I look forward to what is to come with this program!"

Here follows photos submitted by the student body, faculty, and staff of Mary Baldwin College. Thank you all! Without you, we wouldn't have a Bluestocking.

President of Mary Baldwin College

Dr. Pamela Fox came to MBC four years ago to become its newest president. She has since instituted the 10 Year Strategic Plan, led the school to it's highest number of applicants ever, and been adopted as a member of the Class of 2007. The class organized a Junior Dads party where Dr. Fox was presented her Mary Baldwin class ring by none other than her father, who was brought in just for the occasion. She was even the inspiration for the photo prop at the class Spring Fling, appearing on the cover of Dr. Seuss book Fox in Socks as, you guessed it, the fox in socks. As a result of her drive and commitment to excellence, The Bluestocking staff of 2007 would like to congratulate Dr. Fox on her graduation and wish her the best in her future as President.

Mr. Dan Layman

MBC's First Husband

Dan Layman was somewhat of an oddity when he arrived at Mary Baldwin College. By oddity, we don't mean he was blue with green hair or eight feet tall. He was an oddity in that the college had never before had a first husband. Since his arrival, Mr. Layman has become a beloved member of the Mary Baldwin College community. He has done everything from escort his wife to Christmas Cheer dinner to carve pumpkins with the students. He also has joined many organizations in Staunton, becoming an endearing presence of the local community. The Bluestocking staff of 2007 congratulate Mr. Layman on his first four years as first husband and wish him well in his future at the college and beyond.

To Alison ...

Alison, Bluestocking doesn't know what to do without you. You've been with us (me) since my very first year as advisor. You helped make our second book a star when you were a young editor. And then through your help both your junior and senior year, Bluestocking has triumphed. Because of you we even won an award! We still have miles to go before we can achieve the greatness that is there, but because of you we are halfway there. We (I'll) miss you.

The Bluestocking staff and advisor (Morgan)

To Lynn ...

To our unofficial staff member,

Thank you so much for all of the pictures you have taken for the yearbook. Without you the Bluestocking would be a three page book! You are truly wonderful and amazing.

All of our love,
Morgan, Trisha, Katie, and Katy

To Max ...

Without you there would be no senior portraits. Without you the Class of 2007 wouldn't look absolutely fabulous.

Thank you! You are amazing.

And to you, Aubrey. Without your headshots of the Corps of Cadets, we wouldn't have a student section. Thank you so much!

The yearbook would like to thank the Senators for all of their hard work this year. The school wouldn't be able to do anything without these lovely ladies. Thanks again!

The Bluestocking staff would like to extend our deepest gratitude to the Executive Committee of 2007 for their stellar leadership and unwavering dedication to community service and the college.

Congratulations
Cami!

You will truly be missed here!

Love,
Cindy

Fran,
Congratulations! We are so very proud of all of your accomplishments at Mary Baldwin
College and know they are only the beginning of many more successes and happiness yet to come.

Love,

Katy,

It has been a wonderful and life-saving year having you as our Bluestocking business manager. We just wanted to take a moment to thank you for going above and beyond the call of duty, in helping us make a fabulous yearbook. We greatly appreciate everything you have done!!

Love,
Katie, Trisha, and Morgan

*Congratulations on your graduation!
We are very proud of you.*

STARS of 2007

Melissa, Jenn, Alison, Erin, Megan, McCall, and Lacey,

My how the years have flown by! I still remember when and how I met each one of you, whether it was at a meeting or just around campus. You have each made an impact on my life in one way or another that can never be changed. From teaching me mantras to live by (I clash with trash.) to showing me that sometimes being a student leader is more grit than glamour, you have shaped me into a better person. You all enhanced my years in STARS with your caring, understanding, and wit, making sure that, along the way, I never forgot that you were there for me. You each contributed to making STARS a powerful and fun organization and we will never forget you. I love you all and will miss you terribly, but I hope that each of you has great success in your future endeavors.

-Trisha

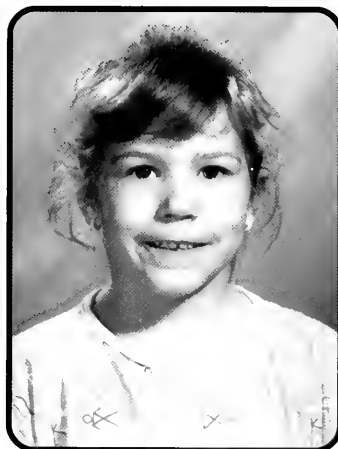

Congratulations
Kim

My Dear Daughter Jasmine:

How quickly the time passed by and here we are ready again for a new destination. So may I say ...

I wish you enough sun to keep your attitude bright no matter how grey the day may appear.

I wish you enough rain to appreciate the sun even more.

I wish you enough happiness to keep your spirit alive and everlasting.

wish you enough pain so that even the smallest of joys in life may appear bigger.

I wish you enough gain to satisfy your wanting.

I wish you enough loss to appreciate all that you possess.

wish you enough hellos to get you through the final good-bye.

Congratulations on your Graduation!

Good luck in your future endeavors!

Love always Mami

Congratulations Shannon!

Queen Bees

Oh, what a year!

Fellow Squirrels,

As we headed to campus this year, everyone had something on her mind. The ladies of the not-yet-acclimated Class of 2010 were busy preparing to start their first college classes as well as making sure that they packed the right shoes for running up and down 248,931 miles of hills. Sophomores were realizing that upper-class housing really isn't all it's cracked up to be as well as trying to remember the number to Gini Ridge's daily food hotline. Juniors were ready for their class rings but were really underestimating the stress that comes with that almost-seniors mentality. The Class of 2007 arrived, revved-up and ready to start their senior year, all the while contemplating ways to persuade future employers to embrace the observation of Apple Day. As the year progressed, Freshmen learned the ropes, Sophomores learned how to live without that sink in the room, Juniors learned that when they got stressed, looking at the sparkly ring on their finger was a good distraction, and Seniors embraced Commencement with joy, sadness, and just a few months worth of partying. While most of us had hoped that this would be the year that MBC put in ski lifts to combat the hills, air conditioned all dorms, and decided to build a Subway/Arby's/Taco Bell on campus, it turned out to be a year full of good times and fabulous memories. As co-editor of this yearbook, I would like to thank each and every one of you (yes you, with the half-pulled out hair and bowl of cereal) for sharing your memories...and a few incriminating pictures...with us. You made this yearbook possible, so enjoy it!²

-Trisha M. Vaughan '08

Top 5 Ways to Enjoy This Yearbook:

- 1) Can be used to fix a wobbly desk.
- 2) Is awesome when used as a doorstop.
- 3) You can eat pizza off of it.
- 4) Has great paper for making airplanes and paper mache.
- 5) Can also function as a yearbook.

The Bluestocking Staff of 2006-2007

The end of yet another year has come...

As the other Co-Editor of this year's Bluestocking I would just like to thank everyone for sharing with us their memories from this past year at Baldwin! I would also like to say a big THANK YOU to our wonderful advisor Morgan Alberts Smith, because without her nothing would have been possible! ~Katie Lukhart

Reflections

Copyright © Christine Burns 1974, 1996

Regarding how the previous year
Has brought its' share of woes,
And left me somewhat wiser
Of life's inevitable foes
I'd like to say how good it feels
To look back on the past
And not feel any shame
About the role in which I'm cast.

Another year of change it's been,
A time to think again;
To formulate and theorise
And search my inner brain.
And though I'm still evaded by
The answer which I crave
I understand this life much more
And how I must behave
To be accepted as myself
And liked for what I am
A loving, caring woman
Who doesn't NEED a man

I hope my life has mattered
To more souls than just my own
And people have found solace
In the love that I have shown
... Or tried to show,
(For sometimes I must confess
The offering that I have made
Amounts to something less).

But at times I've often wondered
Just what makes me what I am
A product of my genes am I ?
Of chromosomal plan ?
Or is it something higher,
This 'thing' I call my brain
Directing every thought I have
And driving me insane
With worry over who I am
And out of where I came....

... I think I'd better stop
And try to think it out again.

In Memory

of those who were lost that fateful day ... you will never be forgotten
